

Welcome to Student Life!

SPSCC ASB charts new and returning clubs at any point of the year! Complete this packet to start a club. Please follow all directions, complete all the forms, and get the correct signatures. Electronic signatures or email approvals will be accepted.

Charter Checklist

Whether you are a returning club or a brand new club, please follow these steps:

1. Identify two club officers willing to take primary responsibility for club activities and 5 registered students who are interested in your club and have them sign your Charter/Re-Charter form (these can include the same students who will be officers).
2. Find a full time staff or faculty member to agree to be your advisor and have them sign the Advisor Agreement (if you're having trouble, email Electra Gupton, egupton@spscc.edu).
3. Either write a constitution or complete the attached Club Constitution form.
4. Turn in all documents to Office of Student Life.

Your application will be reviewed at the earliest possible ASB Senate meeting. Once the club is officially recognized, you will be contacted to schedule a mandatory club orientation with club leaders and the advisor.

Club Officer Responsibilities

There are many reasons students join clubs. Some join or start clubs to meet new people, to network in and explore their chosen profession, to celebrate their culture or heritage or to just have fun! The club leaders help develop the following:

Help the Club:

Help the Club Grow:

2. Use support services from Office of Student Life.
3. Lead efforts to promote the club on campus and recruit new club members
4. Complete and submit an annual club charter to maintain your status as a recognized student organization.
5. Approve all fundraising activities and expenditures made by the club.
6. Develop and submit an annual budget request to ASB each winter quarter, if applicable.

Expected Advisor Responsibilities

Getting involved with a club is a great opportunity to work with and support the many students of SPSCC. SPSCC is home to a diverse student body, and as such an abundance of varying interests. Club advisors can help students pursue their passion, make connections with other students, get exposed to diverse opinions and viewpoints, and advance their education beyond the classroom.

Below are listed basic advisor responsibilities expected of all club advisors:

Be a Mentor

2. Make an effort to be at club meetings and events.
3. Attend and supervise, or organize staff supervision, of all after hours and off campus club activities.

Be a Planner

1. Be familiar with the rules and expectations in the Club Handbook. The handbook is available on the SPSCC website or by contacting the Director of Student Life.
2. Assist club officers and members in planning their programs, activities and budgets.
3. Ensure the club's compliance with the club constitution, the ASB Constitution and By-laws, the Club Handbook, the Financial Code, and other applicable rules and regulations.

Write Your Own Constitution

A club will often have a constitution that describes its purpose and structure. However, the club still needs some direction as to how they are going to function on day to day issues or business. Use the amendment and bylaws section to describe first, how you are going to change the constitution if needed and second how the club is going to create bylaws and adhere to them.

If the club's constitution is changed, a new one must be presented to the ASG Executive Board to be kept on file.

The following Article titles are suggestions, if you would like to write your own constitution; but also mirror the attached "fill-in-the-blank" constitution. You may change any of the Sections titles to meet your club's needs.

Article I – Club Name

Give your club a name. The name should reflect the purpose of the club.

Article II – Purpose

This article describes the reason for and focus of the club. The constitution is written to protect and encourage this purpose; help students make decisions; resolve problems if they occur.

Article III – Membership

The "Fill in The Blanks" constitution meets the non-discrimination and other legal requirements for recognition as a college organization, and for ASB funding. It also describes what rights members have in the club.

Article IV – Officers

List your club's officer titles, their responsibilities, and how long they can expect to be an officer. Examples are listed in the attached constitution. Other titles may be chosen.

Article V – Officer Elections

Specify when and how often elections will be held. New clubs must have an election by their third regular meeting.

Article VI – Removal From Office

A removal from office article is important to include in a constitution because it helps the club through the procedures and processes associated with removing an officer from their position. Removing an officer from their leadership position could happen for numerous reasons, but the purpose to do so should focus on keeping club leadership intact.

Article VII – Financial Procedures

The financial procedures section outlines how the club intends to handle money; including the requirement of dues, treasurer reports, and who collects and deposits money. If your club will have dues, describe them here; if not, state that the club does not intend to collect dues.

Article VIII – Outline of Activities

This section provides Student Life, as well as club leaders, an opportunity to think about activities they would like to create. It also includes a section where all club meetings are outlined. This information will be used to advertise the club; including listing meeting times and locations on the website.

Article IX – Amendments & Bylaws

By-laws explain more specific rules and duties of the club, whereas the constitution describes less flexible policies or purposes. It also outlines how and when decisions are made by club leaders/members.
